Any organization has members that come and sit around,
From these people you never hear a sound;
Then you have the kind who say
They couldn't make the meeting that day.
Then you have the knockers, who knock you all the time.
They really don't give you one ounce of their mind.
Then you have the boosters,
Who really think they are the "mosters".
Then you have the people who don't get along.
We wish they would go away, and sing another song.
Thank heaven for the workers, who come and do their share.
Unfortunately, we don't have enough of them to spare;
We'd certainly like to have you on the workers team,
That would even help motivate our steam!
We'll see you at the next meeting.
Please come right up front when you are seating.
